U.S. Won't Kick 4 Polish Refugees From Country Yet

NEW YORK (AP) — Four jet-age gypsies who flew the Atlantic five times in five days were ordered "excluded and deported from the United States" Tuesday — but they won't be leaving the country yet. "We're not going to y-o-yo them again," said District Director Sol Marks of the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service.

"They're excludable, but they're not going anywhere," said J. Michael Greenberg, attorney for the four, as he led them laughing and singing from the immigration hearing.

The case has attracted worldwide attention and, among others, Tampa, Fla., attorney Paul Kickliter has offered to help.

"The whole thing touched my heartstrings," he said, offering the family a home. "It just so happens that I have a home in nearby Land O'Lakes on a lake and a big orange grove."

Whether the gypsies, Jan and Helena Hornjak, daughter Agatha, 4, and brother-in-law Robert Kolompar, 20, will accept this offer was not known. They have been living with cousins in Queens.

The four fled Communist Poland with stolen passports and have been refused entry to Italy and the United States.

Before any attempt to deport them, the immigration service said, they will be given a chance to apply for asylum as political refugees here on the grounds that they would be persecuted if returned to Poland.

Kolompar said they faced 10-to 15-year prison terms for leaving Poland illegally.

Marks said not until the refugee status had been determined would the department try to make arrangements, if their requests should fail, to settle them, first in Italy and then in Poland.

Confrontation Shaping Over Nixon's Tapes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Watergate committee has given President Nixon "just a very short period of time" to reply to its request for the presidential tape recordings that have become central to the investigation.

A majority of the seven-member committee is on record as favoring a subpoena for the tapes if President Nixon invokes the doctrine of executive privilege and refuses to surrender them voluntarily.

At the same time, it was learned that special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox also plans to ask for the tapes. Since Cox is a member of the executive branch the separation of powers or executive privilege doctrines presumably might not bar him from obtaining the files.

The President invoked the executive privilege doctrine Tuesday in refusing to allow members of his Secret Service guard to describe the presidential listening system to the committee, say how the tapes are stored or who has access to them.

And Nixon Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler told reporters that the taped recordings of every conversation the President has had in his executive offices since the spring of 1971 are considered to be presidential papers, which Nixon already has refused to send to Capitol Hill.

The committee voted unanimously Tuesday to renew its request for the documents and to ask the President to supply the tapes of all conversations bearing on the Watergate affair.

Later, Samuel Dash, the committee's chief counsel, told reporters, "We're allowing for just a very short time for a reply."

Dash and others on the committee staff said they hoped for that reply as early as today and by Thursday at the latest.

"There is no argument—either constitutional or legal—that entitles the White House to withhold this evidence," said Sen. Lowell P. Weicker Jr., R-Conn., after Tuesday's session.

"Claiming executive privilege or the separation of powers doctrine in relation to these tapes gives them a dignity they don't deserve," Weicker said.

The existence of the tapes was disclosed Monday by former presidential aide Alexander P. Butterfield, now head of the Federal Aviation Administration.

Watergate Testimony Continues

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Watergate committee, after hearing lawyer Herbert W. Kalmbach complain of being "demeaned" and "kicked in the stomach" by former presidential aides, was set today for a return session by a one-time White House secret agent.

The panel scheduled further testimony from Anthony T. Ulasewicz, who last year transmitted secret cash payments totaling $220,000 from Kalmbach to Watergate figures.

It was a second appearance for Ulasewicz. He testified in May that he helped transmit offers of executive clemency from then White House counsel John W. Dean III to one of the Watergate defendants, James McCord.

Ulasewicz worked as a private investigator for White House adviser John D. Ehrlichman, trying to dig up embarrassing information about President Nixon's political enemies. He was paid through a trust fund run by Kalmbach, who was once President Nixon's personal lawyer.

Kalmbach wound up two days of televised testimony Tuesday still saying that he raised the $220,000 for Watergate defendants, thinking it was a humanitarian gesture to help pay legal fees and family support.

Also Tuesday President Nixon intervened with a personal letter to bar testimony to the committee by Secret Service agents.

Rather than fight Nixon's use of executive privilege, the panel immediately sent a letter to Nixon asking him to turn over voluntarily recordings of presidential conversations that are in Secret Service custody.

The committee seeks the tape-recordings to find out exactly what was said in the series of conversations between Dean and Nixon. Dean claims the President participated in the cover-up.

The White House indicated Tuesday that it would resist efforts to get the tapes. Presidential Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said they are considered as presidential papers of the kind Nixon is refusing to give the committee.

Meanwhile, Vice President Spiro T. Agnew said that the taping of presidential conversations at the White House was not necessarily a violation of anyone's privacy because the tapes have not been transcribed.

And, Agnew told reporters at Bethesda Naval Medical Center, "I have no resentment of the fact that I was being taped." Nixon, still recovering from viral pneumonia, met for 50 minutes with Agnew.

In questioning Kalmbach, some senators were openly skeptical.

Council Legislation Paves Way For Sewer Plant Start

Circleville City Council Tuesday approved two ordinances paving the way for construction of the proposed sewerage treatment plant.

The first authorized the mayor, Frank Barnhill, and the city auditor, Marvene Turner, to enter into an agreement with the Ohio Water Development Authority for the loan for construction. Circleville has been approved for a $6,636,900 loan which will be repaid 25 cents on the dollar.

The second permits the board of public utilities to advertise for bids and to enter into a contract for construction with the low bidder.

Public utilities director said with the passage of the legislation the bids will be advertised next week, opened the latter part of August and actual construction would probably start around Nov. 1.

Taylor noted it would take the engineering firm of Hazen and Sawyer about two weeks to evaluate the bids and another four to six weeks for the Ohio Environmental Protection agency to evaluate and approve the bid.

A related ordinance passed by council specifies the type of materials that may be used in any future extension of city sewer lines. Taylor said that although the city is currently using only approved material, EPA authorities asked that specifications be spelled out by city code.

The legislation regulating L.P. gas storage in the city was held to a third reading. Approved after a second reading Tuesday was the ordinance accepting the deed of easement from James and Connie Frommel for the widening of Atwater Ave. Mayor Barnhill told Council members that two easements were yet to be acquired before the project could be started.

Two ordinances permitting the service director to advertise for bids and enter into contracts for installation of curbs and gutters were approved.

One of the projects is on North Scioto and West Water Street and the other on Wilson Ave.

A communication from Martha Poling, chairman of the Pickaway County Health Planning Committee thanking the city for the $2,000 budgeted for the committee was read by Clerk Robert Shadley. Mrs. Poling reminded council the $2,000 covered the deficit and another $1,000 will be needed for 1974.

Following council's business agenda, Robert Hemphker of Beach Signs, requested that consideration be given to changing the zoning regulations restricting signs and that sign installers be licensed. His request was referred to Councilman Robert Kenworthy and to the Circleville planning and zoning committee.

ROUNDTOWN

NO one is immune from the long arm of the law. Our publisher, Richard L. Davis, was apprehended recently by the Highway Patrol for driving 80 miles an hour along Route 23. Davis admitted his guilt before Judge Sterling Lamb today.

A LINE outage disrupted Associated Press wire news to The Herald shortly before 11 a.m. today. Consequently the markets, late breaking national news will not appear today. Sorry to disappoint all the Watergate fans.

A THIEF is at work in the Pickaway County courthouse lobby. The soda pop dispensing machine in the hall now bears a large tag with the claims of five courthouse employees seeking a total of 80 cents "stolen" by the machine when it accepted the coins and did not dispense its goods.

House OKs $328.5 Million Capital Improvements Bill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio House has passed a $328.5 million capital improvements bill that touched off traditional charges of "pork barreling" in the lower chamber.

It went to the Senate Tuesday night on an 85-6 vote after more than an hour's debate on floor amendments. Only three were approved, and one of those was not substantive.

Rep. Robert E. Levitt, R-70 Canton, helped lend floor approval of an amendment that took $1.4 million away from a $3.6 million appropriation for the Lima branch of Ohio State University and gave it to the Geauga County branch of Kent State University.

Later, Levitt stood to speak against another amendment that would provide $2 million for a performing arts center at Central State University. "The level of pork has reached a new high in Ohio," Levitt charged.

Rep. Donald J. Pease, D-54 Oberlin, challenged the Canton Republican. Referring to the amendment that helped Levitt's northeast Ohio district, Pease said he was "disappointed" that Levitt complained about pork "when he just received his share about five minutes ago." The Central State amendment was approved 76-13.

After several other unsuccessful amendments, Rep. Walter D. McClaskey, R-66 Marion, a freshman member, brought a roar of laughter from the House when he said, "this is my first brush with a capital improvements bill. I feel like a June bride on her wedding night." McClaskey offered no amendments however.

The appropriations are as follows: public works, $5 million; natural resources, $8.9 million; transportation, $8 million; commerce $100,000; employment services, $2.2 million; higher education, $183.2 million; corrections and rehabilitation, $284,368, and mental health, $118 million.

Among the appropriations for the state agencies, $1.5 million each is earmarked for a state police and state fire academy. More than $800,000 is included for architectural and other fees for a new state office building in downtown Cleveland.

The Department of Natural Resources appropriation includes $7.6 million for statewide projects, including land acquisition, fisheries, and fishing facilities. About $400,000 would go for 100 boat docks at Mosquito Reservoir.

Of the appropriation for the Department of Transportation, $7 million would be spent for improvements to buildings and facilities, and $1 million for mass transit parking areas.

The bill appropriates $1 million for a universities transportation research and graduate center at the Transportation Research Center of Ohio near Marysville. It will be used jointly by the colleges of engineering throughout the state.

It also provides $400,000 for the Belmont Technical College and reappropriates $107,000 for the Medical College of Ohio at Toledo and $925,000 for the law building at Cleveland State University.

Otherwise, it appropriates these other amounts for higher education:

Ohio Board of Regents two year campuses, $55 million; Bowling Green State University, $309,135; University of Akron, $10.8 million; Central State University, $6.4 million; University of Cincinnati, $13.2 million; Cleveland State University, $7.3 million; Kent State University, $2.1 million; Ohio State University, $27.6 million; Ohio University, $2.1 million; and Miami University, $3.8 million.

The bill appropriates these amounts to the Board of Regents for the state's two-year campuses:

Stark County Branch, Kent State, $3 million; Tuscarawas Branch, Kent State, $1,014; Mercer County Branch, Wright State, $3,948; Middletown Branch, Miami, $100,000; Hamilton

Branch, Miami, $34,593; Chillicothe Branch, Ohio University, $163,012; Zanesville Branch, Ohio University, $185,576; Lancaster Branch, Ohio University, $1.9 million; Mansfield Branch, Ohio State, $3.7 million, and Lima Branch, Ohio State, $2.2 million.

A Page Of Opinion

Recall Progress

That is, that was their position yesterday. Today they may have some doubts. The bicycle industry is undergoing its first major recall, and that places it in the big time. More than 40,000 imported Austrian bicycles are involved in a recall because of "possible defective castings within the handlebar brake assembly," according to their American importer.

There has been a tendency among some automobile industry officials to play down the growth of bicycle and motorcycle use in the United States as something of a fad which has an upsurge every now and then. They certainly do not see it leading to something akin to the preponderance of bike riders found in Japan and some other countries.

Those dads who remember when bicycle riding was largely a do-it-yourself pastime involving little more than two wheels, a pair of pedals and sometimes a brake, might be inclined to laugh a bit if only they could understand what a casting on a handlebar brake assembly was. Most of them gave up long ago trying to follow all those wires, tubes and gear boxes to their natural connections.

U.S. Needs Wilbur Mills

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Watching Congressman Wilbur Mills, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, over the last few years, two out of three observers would tell you that he generally behaves with his Presidential availability in mind. Now comes the ominous suggestion, prompted by trouble with a degenerated disc in his spine, that he might even be thinking of quitting politics. If this should happen, it would be one more indication that the stars in their courses no longer favor the U.S. Last May, Wilbur Mills made the greatest Congressional speech of his life. Referring to Watergate, which he characterized as "reprehensible business," he denied that it would lead to a paralysis of the American system of government. The Executive branch, he said, "is not — and was never intended to be — the sum of the government of the U.S." The courts were still functioning, he said, the conscience of the people was alive, Congress was carrying on, and our economy, despite the inflation, had, within the year, created 2.7 million new jobs and added $61 billion in real output to bring disposable personal income to an average of $2,882 per individual. The best thing about the speech is that it seemed to backtrack a bit from earlier Mills statements that tax reform must be concerned with closing loopholes. Not that Mills has ever been fantastic about killing the economic easements that loopholes represent. But this time he chose to blame our economic malfunctioning on the "money expansion (that has) resulted from deliberately running up Government spending ahead of the increase in revenues." The $18 billion government deficit 1972 constituted a "fiscal-monetary binge" that wasted "the respite which wage-and-price controls could have given us." Mills went on to say that he would never consent to use tax reform as a "coverup for penalizing saving by individuals or businesses." He set his face against "turning into a yo-yo those tax provisions we need to get the investment the nation requires." To the Populists in his own Democratic Party he said "we are not going to treat the legitimate returns on saving as second-class income by taxing it more heavily than we now do. We are going to prevent ordinary income from being turned into capital gains, but we are not going to turn real capital gains into ordinary income." To encourage capital savings, Mills added that he could have "talked myself into the position where I could let everybody else in the U.S. accumulate $50,000 in a nest egg, from investments, from interest, from capital gains, and other ways, before I would put any tax on them, and then I would put a tax on what they make after that."

This sort of voice was lost out of the White House when Roger Freeman, now senior fellow at the Hoover Institution, quit as a Nixon aide because his independence was incompatible with the Haldeman-Ehrlichman Prussianization of the place. Freeman has published an excellent booklet called "Tax Loopholes: The Legend and the Reality." He does not regard capital gains, mineral depletion, home owner's interest and other allowances as sacrosanct, but he makes the very good point that they have been in the public interest. It has been the loopholes that keep the system going, providing new fuel for our cars, ores for industry, capital for building programs, and roofs over our heads.

If Mills is no longer there to hold the Congressional pass as head of the influential Ways and Means Committee, someone will have to step into the breach. The newly formed American Council on Capital Gains and Estate Taxation, whose credo is that "liberalization of the tax law on capital gains is desirable if this country is even to begin to meet the enormous investment requirements to maintain economic growth," will have its work cut out for it in finding someone with the understanding of a Wilbur Mills to present its position. The council correctly points out that our big competitors, Japan and West Germany, have no capital gains tax at all. Only Britain has a higher capital gains tax rate than the U.S., and just look at the sluggishness of the British economy. It couldn't be worse.

According To Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Did it ever occur to you that you may not be neurotic after all?

Have you ever had the sturdiness of mind to think that the rest of the world may be mad — but that you aren't?

Well, in the distraught and fouled-up world we live in, it is important now and then for everyone to check his relative sanity level and to compare it with his peers.

Here is a simple way for you to find out. Simply answer the following questions:

Are you storing away an unnecessary amount of things to meet a possible shortage? For example do you have 15 rolls of toilet paper or 25 shopping bags taking up space in your closet, when you couldn't possibly need more than a third that many at any one time?

Now that Communists are acceptable socially, at least internationally, do you look under your bed at night for something else to be afraid of like, say, muggers?

Can you remember the exact year and place that you last saw a live bluebird?

If you had an apartment overlooking the patio of a friend and peeked down one afternoon and saw your friend's wife welcoming erotic advances from a strange man, would you (1) spray the couple below with a kettle of cold water; (2) phone your friend at his office; (3) call the police emergency and report a theft in progress, or (4) just keep right on peeking?

Suppose you had to borrow $250 in a hurry. Could you get it from a friend, or would you have to go to a loan company?

If the FBI or any other investigative agency checked three of your neighbors about your character, how many of those neighbors do you suppose would report the incident to you? All three? Two? One? None?

Do you know of more than two people on earth that you would willingly trade places with?

If you are a man, would you rather be a woman; or, if you're a woman, would you rather be a male chauvinist pig?

Are you tired of coping?

What does the sight of a rainbow do to you that the sound of a hit rock 'n' roll record doesn't?

Do you really feel that youth is wasted on the young?

Is there one thing in the world you don't have that would make you truly happy if you had it? Two things?

Has reading this article so far made you wonder about yourself?

Well, that's the quiz? Now let's check your box score.

Actually, the only important question was the last one. If you can still wonder about yourself, you're as normal as a man can expect to be.

But if you think you know the answer to everything, there's no doubt who's mad. It isn't the world. It's you.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester I. Coleman, M.D.

I purchased a new automobile and, after driving it for about a week, I developed excruciating pain running down my leg.

—Can there be something wrong with the way the seat is constructed?

Now I find I can't even drive another car that I borrowed. I get the same pain.

Dear Mr. K: The description of your pain highly resembles that of sciatica, an inflammation or irritation of the sciatic nerve.

This nerve is the largest nerve in the body. It extends from the lower spine and runs down the thigh before it divides into a number of branches. Some type of injury is considered to be the chief cause of this painful condition.

A poor constructed automobile seat can very well be responsible for injuring, compressing or pulling on the sciatic nerve.

Many people who describe the pain will say that sharp, shooting and gnawing pains extend from the buttocks down the back of the thigh, to the leg, and to the ankle.

There is a temptation for you to identify the onset of sciatica with your new car. Everyone likes to find a reason for an illness of any kind.

People with an upset stomach try immediately to pinpoint the food responsible for it.

When we catch a cold, we quickly remember where we were in a draft or when someone next to us in the bus sneezed.

It may very well be that the new seat triggered off an attack of sciatica, but it is essential that you have a thorough investigation for other possible causes.

It is well known that sciatica may be the result of infection or arthritis of the lower spine. The rupture of a disk could also be responsible.

Some general medical conditions are sometimes complicated by sciatica without any history of injury.

A general physical and neurological condition may pinpoint the real reason for sciatica, assuming it does exist in your case.

Remember that driving an automobile can put pressure on a condition that already is present.

Is scabies contagious? Mrs. H.L., Mich.

Dear Mrs. L:

This skin condition is caused by a tiny insect or parasite, the sarcoptes scabiei. It is highly contagious and readily transmitted from one person to another. For this reason it is imperative that the school authorities be notified immediately if scabies has been diagnosed. In this way the other children can be isolated and protected. The condition is controlled by sulphur ointment and other drugs. If the treatment is to be effective, sterilization of clothing and bed linen is necessary.

Two hour parking restrictions in Circleville's downtown district were revived. Mayor W.B. Cady and Police Chief William McGrady said they had received numerous complaints on motorists who left their cars on the street throughout the day.

This practice resulted in visitors being unable to find a place to park and encouraged double-parking.

Rifle shots and Taps broke the stillness of Forest Cemetery as Circleville paid its final tribute to William N. Parks, 89, the city's last Civil War veteran.

Mr. Parks, a native of Hocking County, had been a resident of Circleville since 1923.

George E. Gerhardt, county prosecutor, expected the grand jury to complete its session. The jury completed about half of the 25 cases listed for consideration.

Many Pickaway countians planned to attend the Ohio Poultry-Day and pre-anniversary celebration of the World Poultry Congress which was held at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment station in Wooster.

Artificial Insemination Scheduled For Gorilla

Deny LBJ Taped Conversations

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Secret Service and old White House friends of Lyndon B. Johnson have disputed claims by the Nixon administration that LBJ used secret tape recorders in his official duties.

Both groups say the Nixon administration simply got its wires crossed Monday when it tried to lay at Johnson's feet the precedent for the wholesale and surreptitious taping of presidential conversations.

The exchanges were triggered by the surprise testimony before the Senate Watergate committee of former Nixon aide Alexander P. Butterfield. He disclosed that since early 1971, virtually all of Nixon's White House calls, as well as face-to-face conversations, were recorded automatically—and without warning to the other party.

Thanks to the complicated electronic gadgetry controlled by the Secret Service, even the President's conversations in his Executive Office Building hideaway and the retreat at Camp David, Md., were monitored, "for historical purposes," Butterfield said.

The Secret Service quickly acknowledged that it had installed and operates the network. Another confirmation came from presidential counsel J. Fred Buzhardt, who added: "This system ... is similar to that employed by the last administration."

But at the reference to Johnson, the Secret Service suddenly declared itself at odds with Nixon. "All I can say is that it was not done," a spokesman said.

While the spokesman emphasized that he could speak only for the Secret Service, a number of White House associates of Johnson insisted that no one else had done it either.

While tape recorders were sometimes used for presidential or other high-level conversations, "they were equipped with beepers and we always told the party on the other end he was being recorded," Rep. James R. Jones, D-Okla., said.

Jones, a one-time appointments secretary to Johnson, also said, "they were seldom used at all."

Joseph A. Califano Jr., Johnson's domestic affairs counsel, said "Johnson was so wild on the subject of bugging and eavesdropping, I just don't believe he'd do it."

"Certainly there were no bugs around the offices. And as for phone conversations, I know of only one case in which the President turned on a recorder, and that was during the Six Day War of 1967. He made a call to one of the embassies—I don't remember which one—and wanted to make certain there was no misunderstanding of the U.S. position," Califano said.

Harry Middleton, director of the LBJ Library in Austin, Tex., confirmed through a spokesman that some recorded telephone conversations were on file at the library, as well as transcripts of others, which had been taken in shorthand by a secretary who came in on the line.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren
Mother, Daughter Both Adopted

DEAR ABBY: I am a 22-year-old woman. I am working part-time, doing graduate work at college, and also taking care of a terminally ill mother at night.

He has a "piggy" bank which he can open himself, and he makes a game out of counting his money. He has no interest in toys, he just plays with his money.

Two months ago I gave up my newborn illegitimate daughter for adoption. Her father was my one and only relationship, and he doesn't know anything about the birth.

I say it's unhealthy. His parents think it's cute. He gets a wild look in his eye when he handles money. It's frightening.

I wanted more than anything in the world to keep my baby, but felt that since I had given her life, I had an obligation to give her a decent future. Abby, there was no way I could have done it at that time.

Neither of his parents is so money mad. Would I be out of line if I told his parents they should encourage him to find another hobby? Or am I concerned over nothing?

While I carried her, I would stroke my stomach hoping she would somehow be aware of it, as it was the only physical affection I would ever be able to give her. I might add that I, too, am adopted. Maybe that's why I made the decision in favor of adoption. My parents were absolutely wonderful.

CONCERNED
DEAR CONCERNED: A pre-occupation with anything can be unhealthy. Tell his parents of your concern. But it's even money they won't do anything about it.

The people who adopted my baby were childless. I heard they both wept when she was handed over to them.

My question: How can I live with the thought that I have a child somewhere in the world, without yearning to see her, and without wondering what she is like? Do mothers ever get over a thing like this?

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a hair stylist, and he works long hours six days a week. He is 26, born and raised in Oklahoma.

There is no water shortage here so there's no reason for him to go 3, 4 and 5 days without a bath, but he does. I have tried being subtle about it, like running his bath water for him, but it doesn't work. He just lets the water get cold.

EMPTY ARMS
DEAR EMPTY: Don't dwell on your loss-dwell on your child's gain. As an adopted child, with happy memories of your own childhood, you have answered your own questions.

He has oily skin and all the problems that go with it: black heads and pimples. I have changed the sheets and bathed myself, and still he wants to climb into bed with me night after night without having bathed.

Now you can put yourself in the place of your natural mother who loved you so much she gave you up for your sake.

I have told him I think he needs a bath but he says he is comfortable and doesn't want to change his body chemistry. It's just about ruined our sex life. And then he has the nerve to say I am not as "sexy" as I was when he married me. Any suggestions?

HAVE PATIENCE. Your day will come, and you will be rewarded for your unselfish decision.

TURNED OFF
DEAR TURNED: Tell him that if he doesn't want to change his body chemistry he will have to change his address. (Or you'll change your name.)

DEAR ABBY: I have a 5-year-old nephew who really worries me. He is exceptionally bright, but I don't know where he got this thing about money. He is absolutely fascinated with it.

Price Freeze Hurts Packers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Ohio meat processors say President Nixon's freeze on food prices is leaving them out in the cold.

"The more we slaughter, the more we lose. It's a hell of a situation to be in," said Ed Wilke, president of the Ohio Packing Co. of Columbus.

"Our price ceilings are too low for what we have to pay for raw materials. We didn't slaughter a hoof most of last week. We're just doing enough to try to keep our people."

Jack Waldo, president of the Collins Packing Co. of Greenfield, blamed the farmers for the short supplies and high prices consumers face.

"We think the farmers are withholding livestock from the market because of the government's indecision over what to do about its disastrous price freeze. The farmers think the government may lift the freeze any minute, and then they'll be able to ask even higher prices for their stock," Waldo said.

Slaughter was off 17 per cent instead of up 2 per cent as it should have been, Waldo added. He said the company would have to begin laying employees off if the trend continued.

The Collins Co. serves wholesalers in Ohio and the eastern U.S., grossing about $75 million in annual sales, he said.

"We are in the process of phasing out our plant at Bloomington, Ill.," said John Richardson, president of the Sugar Creek Packing Co. of Washington Court House.

"Slicing at our Ohio plant will end this Friday unless something happens to permit us to buy raw materials and pass them along to our customers without taking a loss."

"We have not laid off anyone in Ohio, yet, but we are shortening orders and working minimum guaranteed hours, hoping to weather the storm until the government makes a decision on Phase 4."

Richardson said he told the Cost of Living Council in Washington two weeks ago that since his company specializes in sliced bacon, it can market the product from 4 to 20 cents cheaper than the national brands.

News Of Interest To Women

IN ITALY—While in Italy during a European tour localites stopped for a view of the leaning tower of Pisa. Not present was Ray Mowery.

European Countries Toured By Pickaway Countians

A group of 17 Pickaway Countians gathered at the Fairgrounds on June 26th to begin a 16 day tour of Europe. At the Columbus Airport they boarded the plane with a group from Minnesota. Thus the entire group, consisting of 250 members began their adventurous journey.

The first stop on the tour was in Amsterdam, where the members became acquainted with their faithful bus driver "Theo" from Amsterdam and their capable tour guide "Liz" from England. This particular group distinguished their bus by posting Pumpkin Show signs throughout the bus, thus promoting the greatest free show on earth. Ned Dresbach, known as "Mr. Pumpkin," advertised the Pumpkin Show throughout Holland, Austria, Switzerland, Belgium, Italy, France, and Germany. In Holland the traditional windmills, small farms, dairy cows, and thousands of bicycles were viewed.

The second country toured was Germany. Here, they visited the famous cathedral at Heilidelberg as well as a peaceful cruise down the Rhine River. Many old castles were prominent for the group to enjoy.

One of the oldest European cultures toured by the group was Austria. In this area, the group was amazed at the industrious women working in the hayfields and also the ladies doing their grocery shopping by bicycles.

They became overwhelmed at the sight of the breath-taking country of Switzerland. Landmarks viewed by the group were Mt. Pilatus and of course many beautiful mountains. A unique experience encountered was riding a cable car to reach their motel in the mountain.

Rome had a great deal to offer in the way of historical sculptures and outstanding fountains. The group also visited the Vatican and the beautiful St. Peters Cathedral. After this they toured the ruins of the Forum, Senate and Coliseum.

In Venice the people enjoyed a ride on a gondola, while being serenaded by a gondolier. Since Venice is entirely surrounded by water all business and their way of life is centered around the transportation of a boat.

Entering near the West Coast of Italy, the tourists relaxed at Geneva and waded in the well-known and familiar Mediterranean Sea. Immediately following, they proceeded to have a picture taken at the wondrous Leaning Tower of Pisa.

As the trip became near a close, the group toured Paris where more sightseeing was enjoyed at the Eiffel Tower and the Palace of Versailles.

On the final day of the unforgettable European tour the group toured Brussels, Belgium, which has a reputation for its laces and linens.

Mrs. Twyla Lorentz Speaker For Circle 4 Picnic Meeting

Mrs. Twyla Lorentz was guest speaker for the Thursday evening picnic and meeting of Circle 4, Good Shepherd United Methodist Church, at the home of Mrs. Eugene Siniff, Sunnyview Drive.

Mrs. Eugene Flowers, program leader, announced the topic for the evening as "Personal Mission" and asked Miss Gladys Noggle to give the opening prayer.

In introducing Mrs. Lorentz, director of the Senior Citizen's Center, Mrs. Flowers said that personal mission can be doing thoughtful things for one another and Mrs. Lorentz's work does relate to that concept.

Mrs. Lorentz told of the background of the organizing the Senior Center in Circleville and her involvement in it from a somewhat volunteer level to some funding and support from PICCA. In addition to the many craft and fun projects offered the members are also involved in service to others. Members for example help in the entertainment of Veterans Hospital patients who are living in this area. A project for the future is "Meals On Wheels." Mrs. Lorentz concluded the

Heat Taken From Economy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration economists are cheered by new government statistics that show the heat may be out of the U.S. business boom, which could make it easier to slow inflation.

The latest cause of optimism was the three-tenths of one per cent increase in the nation's industrial production in June, down from a seven-tenths of one per cent increase in May.

The Federal Reserve Board, which released the production index Monday, noted that production of consumer goods declined by seven-tenths of one per cent during the month.

"It's clear that a slowdown in growth has started," said Edgar R. Fiedler, assistant secretary of the treasury for economic policy.

The declining growth rate, if sustained, may help the administration's Phase 4 anti-inflation program, expected to be announced later this week.

President Nixon scheduled a meeting with Secretary of the Treasury George P. Shultz at Bethesda Naval Hospital today to discuss the Phase 4 program.

Shultz said Monday the program lacked only final decision and approval by the President.

Shultz also cited evidence the growth rate of the economy is slowing and indicated this could help ease inflationary pressures by reducing demand for raw materials.

Shultz said the second quarter report on the country's Gross National Product, due Thursday, should show a decline in real economic growth.

The first quarter GNP—the nation's total output of goods and services—showed the economy increased at a real rate of about 8 per cent in the first quarter, which brought expressions of concern from economists who warned the economy might be overheating.

OBES Back Pay Under Study

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Administrator William Gurnes of the Ohio Bureau of Employment Services said Monday his office has been considering a court suit to determine if the bureau should reimburse reinstated employees for back pay.

The Ohio Personnel Board of Review last week ordered the bureau to rehire 81 employees who were laid off because of a lack of funds. The board said the way in which the persons were removed was "unfair and unjust."

Gurnes said the suit would not challenge the decision, but would try to determine if the bureau owes the 81 any back pay.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

In some modern minds, the legendary Confucian advice to "see no evil, hear no evil, speak no evil" has been translated into one simple rule: "Don't get involved." Do nothing, says this rule, and you won't get into trouble.

To a considerable degree, do-nothing has been sanctioned by the common law. Traditionally we have been reluctant to impose any legal penalty for the mere failure to be helpful.

For example, courts have turned down damage claims against the following individuals:

(1) a man who watched impassively while a young woman drowned, even though he could easily have gone to her aid;

(2) a man called no warning to a neighbor's child whom he saw hammering on a tube of gunpowder;

(3) a man failed to remove a rock from the roadway, even though he knew it was a menace to traffic.

In each case the moral duty was plain enough. But the courts all agreed that moral duties were a matter of conscience, not law.

In recent years, however, the law has been requiring people to lend a hand in an increasing number of situations - notably, when there is a special relationship between the parties.

Thus, courts have imposed an affirmative duty on a host toward his guest, on a store toward a patron, on a hotel toward its patron, on a railroad toward its passengers.

Legislators, too, may create a duty to act in specific circumstances. Under hit-and-run statutes, for instance, a motorist may be required to give aid to accident victims regardless of whether he was legally to blame for the accident.

This kind of responsibility is based neither on fault nor on any special relationship. Rather, it is based on a humanitarian feeling that when the moral duty is so clear, the law ought to put muscle behind it.

Washington Report

By CONGRESSMAN WILLIAM H. HARSHA

Just before the July Fourth recess, Congress approved a 5.6 per cent increase in Social Security benefits effective the month of June 1974. This increase is a full six months ahead of the first scheduled automatic increase adjustment which Congress provided for last year.

The reason for the early increase is that prices rose so rapidly this year — much faster than anticipated when Congress first approved the automatic cost-of-living increase schedule for Social Security benefits. With prices jumping a full 5.6 per cent, it became obvious that those living on fixed incomes, particularly those depending on their Social Security benefits, would be extremely hard pressed to make ends meet until the first regularly scheduled increase was made.

Essentially, this latest legislation allows the Social Security beneficiaries to receive a portion of this first automatic benefit increase in their checks for June of next year. In addition, this newly approved legislation raises the maximum a Social Security recipient can earn without loss of benefits from $2,100 a year to $2,400, effective January 1, 1974. This change in the retirement test will provide for additional benefits of $200 million for 1974 for approximately one-and-a-half-million beneficiaries.

The law also increases the Social Security taxable wage base to $12,600 next January 1 to help pay for the new benefits, thus boosting the maximum tax in 1974 from $702 to $738. Finally, the new law raises the Federal welfare guarantees for the aged, blind and disabled from $130 to $140 a month for single persons and from $195 a month to $210 for couples, effective next July 1, and requires the states to make up the difference if their welfare payments are higher than the Federal guarantees.

With all of these changes, the average monthly Social Security pensions will go up from $161 to $170 for an individual and from $277 to $293 for a couple.

During the debate in the House on these increases, however, the question of how this Social Security raise would affect beneficiaries also receiving veterans' pensions was discussed at length. Last year, with the 20 per cent Social Security increase, many such individuals either lost their veterans' pensions altogether or saw them reduced because their Social Security benefits were included in the VA income limitation category. This is a matter over which I am deeply concerned and I have introduced legislation to correct the problem. Members of the Veterans Affairs Committee, which deals with this matter, explained that they are now in the process of investigating ways to alleviate this situation, and it is possible that by next year remedial legislation could be enacted to protect veterans' pensions inadvertently lowered by Social Security increases.

It is important to note, however, that the new 5.6 per cent Social Security increase would not become effective until June 1, 1974. Under the veterans' law, because of the end-of-the-year rule, no pensioner under the VA programs would be required to report or count the additional Social Security increase until January 1975. Therefore, even though the Social Security recipients would begin to receive their increased benefits on July 3, 1974, their VA pensions would not be affected by the increase until the following January.

Before any such pension reductions

Soviet Ship Crewmen Plan Tour Of Toledo

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — The 44-member crew of the Russian cargo ship Donetskiy Komsomolets (pronounced Don-et-ski Kom-som-o-ets') was to tour Toledo today. The Soviet ship is the first ever to stop at the Maumee River port.

The ship was to unload 5,000 tons of Italian steel in Toledo and then head down to Duluth, Minn., to carry grain back to the U.S.S.R.

are made, however, I am hopeful that legislation can be enacted to prevent this. We must ensure that all Social Security and VA pension recipients receive the full benefits to which they are justly entitled.

Saxbe Says Energy Crisis May Bring Future Rationing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Sen. William Saxbe, R-Ohio, said Monday the energy crisis will be with us a long time and some rationing may be necessary in the future.

"The shortage is going to continue for some years," Saxbe told the Columbus Rotary Club. "We have known for a long time that we were using 30 per cent of the energy the world produces and not producing the energy we use."

To ease the crisis, Saxbe advocated construction of the Alaskan pipeline, expansion of nuclear power resources, and a cut in uses of energy by consumers.

"There may have to be some rationing, but I'm not sure," he said. In a talk ranging over a number of topics, Saxbe said the Senate Watergate hearings are hurting the economy and morale of the nation. The matter now should be resolved "through the judicial process," he said.

"I just wish they would wind it up and turn it over to the special prosecutor," he added.

Saxbe announced he is cosponsoring a bill to increase the power of Congress in dealing with the executive branch on budget and fiscal affairs.

He said the bill would provide Congress with budget data "that now is available to the executive branch" and allow greater amount of participation in the budget process.

Congress may be in the mood "to really get something done about new

Sale Of Arab Lands Punishable By Death

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — King Hussein of Jordan has issued a decree regarding the sale of land to Israel under which the closing costs would include the life of the seller.

A palace announcement Monday said sale of land in the occupied west bank was "treason punishable by death."

A three-man court was set up by the decree. It would oversee a ban on such sales. The court could seize movable and immovable assets of violators.

Butz Consumer Aide Shifts Food Purchases Due To Prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz's new special assistant for consumer affairs has reacted to the highest consumer food prices in 20 years by reordering her priorities in the grocery store.

Nancy H. Steorts, 36, said in an interview after her appointment was announced Monday that she is "putting my emphasis now on the quality foods" when shopping for herself, her department-store-executive husband and their 10-year-old daughter.

More of her grocery bill goes to "good meat and good produce ... rather than our convenience foods, snacks and things like that."

Mrs. Steorts, who lives in suburban Sumner, Md., comes to the consumer-affairs post — which pays $23,088 a year — with a background in retail merchandizing, fashions and public relations.

Mrs. Steorts, a 1959 graduate of Syracuse University in her home town, said she doesn't agree that consumers are to blame for high prices. But she did emphasize her view of an urgent "need to communicate better with the consumer."

Personally, she said, "I am not one that would have participated" in the meat boycott this spring. The boycott was organized by housewives, predominantly, to protest rising costs of beef, and other popular meats.

"There are other ways to effectively show disapproval," she said, but added that the boycott had an ad-

Pauling Urges Nixon To Take Vitamin C

NEW YORK (AP) — Dr. Linus Pauling says about 15 to 20 grams of Vitamin C a day can get President Nixon back on his feet in a hurry.

Pauling, an exponent of massive doses of Vitamin C for treatment of colds, said Monday President Nixon could be cured of his viral pneumonia in two or three days if given proper dosages of the vitamin.

General Telephone Pickets Curbed

MARION, Ohio (AP) — The General Telephone Co. has obtained at least two temporary court injunctions limiting picketing at the firm's facilities by striking members of the Communications Workers of America.

One injunction calls for a halt of mass picketing and interference with vehicle movement at General Telephone offices in Athens County. It was granted in common pleas court Tuesday after minor disturbances were reported.

The firm also obtained a temporary injunction Tuesday limiting strikers to two pickets at its main offices in Marion County. A July 30 hearing has been scheduled on the company's request to make the second injunction permanent.

Meanwhile General Telephone supervisors were continuing to answer only emergency requests for new telephone service or repairs.

A company spokesman said more than 1,000 requests for new installations had been made since the strike began early Monday. He noted,

Air Controllers Yield To Bees

ABBOTSFORD, B.C. (AP) — Air traffic controllers have moved back into their quarters at the Abbotsford Airport after a swarm of bees spent the weekend inside. The controllers were forced to flee the building and conduct operations from a mobile unit.

The bees, estimated at somewhere between 700 and 1,000, entered the controllers' quarters through a vent Saturday.

An exterminator was called in Monday and the problem was taken care of with no damage to any of the equipment.

No one was stung.

however, that only requests from doctors, hospitals and law enforcement agencies were being handled.

The company has 308,000 subscribers in 70 Ohio counties.

Company officials said none of the

2 Men Sentenced In 4 Bank Holdups

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Two Indiana men have been sentenced to concurrent eight-year prison terms for robbing four banks in Indiana and Ohio.

The sentences were imposed Tuesday by U.S. District Court Judge S. Hugh Dillin.

George V. Deitz, 31, Williamsburg, and Harold B. Dean, 21, Richmond, were charged with robbing the Peoples State Bank branch at Fountain City, Ind.; the Second National Bank branch at Richmond; the First National Bank of Mays, Ind., and the Farmers State Bank and Trust Co. at New Madison, Ohio.

The two men had pleaded guilty to the charges.

Abortion Restrictions Supported By Group

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Four "pro-life" organizations issued a joint statement Tuesday supporting a bill before the Ohio legislature to restrict abortions.

The endorsement came from feminists for life, life is for Everybody, the New Human Newsletter and Young People for Life.

Among other things, the bill would make physicians liable for damages if they willfully killed a baby born alive during an abortion attempt.

disturbances at the Athens County offices was serious. A hearing on a permanent injunction in that case has been set for Aug. 1.

No contract negotiations have taken place since the strike started. A company official said he saw no indication that talks will resume in the immediate future.

About 3,000 repairmen, operators, linemen and clerks walked off the job after nearly four months of talks failed to bring any agreement on wages, sick benefits and leave of absence provisions.

The union is holding out for more than the company's offer of a 7 per cent wage and benefit increase over two years, according to a union official.

He said disagreement also exists over the length of the contract and the company's proposal for a modified agency shop. Under the modified shop concept, an employee would be allowed to choose either to join the union and pay dues, or not to join and pay a service fee comparable to union dues.

Workers currently have a choice of whether to join the union. They do not have to pay a fee if they choose not to join. The union wants required membership.

The union official said CWA members have been working without an official contract since April. At that time the union granted the company a 60-day extension to work out a new contract.

Some 500 supervisors are manning 179 exchanges, including major ones in Marion, New Philadelphia, Dover, Portsmouth, Athens, Wilmington, Circleville, Salina and Bryan.

The union struck General Telephone in 1957 for more than six months.

Cowboys Camp Still Shaken

BY ANDY LIPPMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

One thing the Dallas Cowboys are not at this stage of their pre-season is one happy family.

The latest person to stray out of the Cowboy family circle was center Dave Mander, who Tuesday announced his retirement after contract negotiations with Tex Schramm, Cowboys' general manager, fell through.

Mander had been one of three players absent from the Cowboy football training camp—quarterback Craig Morton and defensive tackle Bob Lilly were also missing and subject to fines.

According to his wife Ann, Lilly is planning a press conference for today to discuss his future with the Cowboys. He earlier flew back to Dallas from the Cowboy camp after deciding not to report until Cowboy management "gets things straightened out."

Dallas has been contacted by several clubs, including Green Bay, about Morton, who wants his contract renegotiated and who left camp Monday.

Defensive tackle Jethro Pugh and cornerback Charlie Waters remained the only unsigned members of the team.

While the players were unhappy in the Dallas camp, Washington Redskins Coach George Allen wasn't exactly ecstatic Tuesday about the absence of Larry Brown, his star running back from training camp.

Allen, who said he did not appreciate anyone not beginning preparation for the 1973 season, said Brown would be fined $300 a day for every day he misses practice.

Brown's attorney has issued a statement that Brown had some "important personal matters" and would join the team shortly.

Defending NFL champions, the Miami Dolphins announced the signing of wide receiver Ron Sellers, acquired during the off-season from the Dallas Cowboys. The Dolphins are preparing to meet the College AllStars July 27 in Chicago.

The Houston Oilers held their first complete workout Tuesday, but Coach Bill Peterson noted that linebacker Bill Stincic, wide receiver Billy Parks, and defensive tackle Ed Lothamer had not reported and there was a good possibility they were retiring.

Offensive guard Willie Banks was sidelined at the New England training camp by a hairline fracture of a small bone in the right leg.

Club officials said Banks may be able to work out again by next week.

Fred Sturt, an offensive guard from Bowling Green State, signed his contract with St. Louis, which Tuesday opened its camp for rookies, newly-acquired veterans, quarterbacks and receivers.

Tight end Kent Kramer, offensive tackle Steve Smith and defensive tackle Gary Pettigrew signed their contracts with the Philadelphia Eagles, while Buffalo announced it had acquired veteran defensive tackle Walt Barnes. The six-year NFL veteran was signed as a free agent.

Otis And Royals Rip Tigers, 4-3

By ALEX SACHARE
Associated Press Sports Writer

A couple of days ago, Amos Otis thought he had discovered the reason for his new-found home run stroke. Now he's not so sure.

After homering in Kansas City's 10-2 rout of the Detroit Tigers Monday night, Otis pointed to slugger John Mayberry, the Royals' clean-up hitter and the major league leader in runs batted in, as the key to his own success.

"I'm batting in front of Mayberry, so I get some good pitches to hit," explained Otis, a starting outfielder on the American League's All-Star team, after Monday's game.

Now he has to revise that notion.

Even though Mayberry was taken out of the starting lineup Tuesday night, Otis slammed two home runs, powering the Royals to a 4-3 victory over the Tigers.

Elsewhere in the American League, the Chicago White Sox swept a day-night doubleheader from the Boston Red Sox 8-4 and 5-0; the New York Yankees took a twilight doubleheader from the Minnesota Twins 4-3 in 12 innings and 4-1; the Milwaukee Brewers topped Texas 6-3, the California Angels beat the Cleveland Indians 3-1 and the Oakland A's defeated the Baltimore Orioles 3-1.

White Sox 8-5, Red Sox 4-0.

Wilbur Wood and Stan Bahnsen, who have combined for 30 of Chicago's 48 victories this season, added one apiece in the day-night doubleheader against Boston.

Wood, who leads the majors in victories, raised his record to 18-12 in Chicago's 8-4 triumph in the day game. Ed Herrmann hit a three-run homer and drove in five runs.

Bahnsen, 12-9, scattered four singles in winning the night game 5-0. Buddy Bradford homered and Eddie Leon cracked a two-run single to pace the White Sox' attack.

Gary Player Goes After St. Louis Win

ST. LOUIS (AP) — South African Gary Player begins his second assault on America's bulging golf purses and Lee Trevino is on hand to defend his title in the rich St. Louis Children's Hospital Golf Classic.

The 72-hole event, with a purse increased from $150,000 to a whopping $210,000, begins Thursday on the 6,544-yard, par 70 Norwood Hills Country Club course.

Some of the game's outstanding stars are taking a week off following the British Open championship, but the big purse has lured a strong field, topped by Player and Trevino.

Both had disappointing performances in the British Open but both still rank among the game's greatest gate attractions.

Although Player and Trevino rank among the top choices for the $42,000 first prize, there is plenty of strong opposition in the field of 147.

Among their chief opponents are Australian Bruce Crampton, the season's leading money winner with more than $200,000, and little Deane Beman.

Some other standouts include Masters champion Tommy Aaron, Julius Boros, George Archer, Gene Littler, Gay Brewer, J.C. Snead, Frank Beard, Bert Yancey and Dave Stockton.

Johnny Miller and Tom Weiskopf, the U.S. and British open champions, respectively, and Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer and Billy Casper all are taking the week off.

Gary Treater Leads Jaycee Golf Tourney

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Gary Treater of Warren held a two-stroke lead going into today's final 27 holes in the Ohio Jaycee Golf Tournament at the Reid North municipal course.

Treater shot a three-underpar 105 for 27 holes over the hilly and wooded 6,424-yard layout Tuesday in 16-to-18-year-old competition.

Cleveland Browns Hold Nutcracker Drill

HIRAM, Ohio (AP) — The Cleveland Browns had their first nutcracker drill Tuesday.

Coach Nick Skorich said he was pleased with the work of rookies Carl Barisch and Bob Crum during the two-on-one lineman drill.

Ransom Demanded For Getty Youth

ROME (AP) — The mother of J. Paul Getty III says she is waiting for ransom instructions from her son's kidnapers after receiving a letter from the 16-year-old saying he was in good condition and wanted the ransom paid.

Mrs. Getty, the divorced wife of a son of oil billionaire J. Paul Getty, said on Tuesday that she was now convinced her missing son had been kidnaped and that the kidnapers had been in touch with her.

"We have asked the police not to interfere, and we are now asking the press to help us," she said. "We want them to carry the message that the contact has been made and the family is ready."

In London, the boy's grandfather said he would not pay the ransom. Getty said he loved the boy but payment of ransom "only encourages kidnapers."

Mrs. Getty said the abductors did not specify a ransom figure in their contact Tuesday afternoon.

Later Tuesday, she received the letter from her son through Martine and Marie Zacher, German twins who are close friends of the youth. Police said the letter was mailed to the girls' home although it was intended for the boy's family.

Martine told police she was certain the handwriting was Paul's.

The postmark on the envelope was illegible, police said.

Known in the Italian press as the "golden hippie" because of the circles he frequented in Rome, young Getty was last seen on the night of July 9 leaving a Rome discotheque and then talking with a Belgian girl at the Piazza Navona.

His mother, the former actress Gail Harris, returned home two days later from her country home and was told by an anonymous telephone caller that Paul had been kidnaped and a ransom demand would be made later.

Police launched a nationwide hunt for the youth. But until Mrs. Getty's report Tuesday, there had been doubt that he had been kidnaped. He often had disappeared for several days at a time.

House OKs 5-Year Exemption For Delta Queen Riverboat

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Coast Guard calls it a fire risk and wants it hauled out of the water, but if the House has its way the paddlewheeler Delta Queen will sail the nation's rivers for at least another five years.

Responding to "an outpouring of emotion" from riverboat lovers, the House has approved a five-year exemption from the Marine Safety Law for the mostly wooden steamboat.

Plan Challenge Against Fees

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Rep. Mike Stinziano says he will appear before the Board of Regents at its meeting Aug. 17 to protest new in-state residency rules which "discriminate against students who are registered voters in Ohio."

Stinziano, whose Columbus district includes the Ohio State University area, said the rules, requiring additional fees for out-of-state students, are in violation of a recent U.S. Supreme Court ruling.

The rules, scheduled to take effect Sept. 1, generally state that students coming into Ohio for an education will be considered non-residents and must pay an out-of-state surcharge.

"She should be allowed to continue to ply the inland rivers of the United States because of her great historic and cultural value," says the House Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee in recommending the exemption for the second time in nearly three years.

Plying the Ohio, Tennessee and Mississippi rivers, the Delta Queen makes port calls in 17 states, carrying about 90 per cent of its capacity of 180 passengers.

The committee observes that "few other subjects in the last several years have brought forth a stream of letters and outpouring of emotion as has this particular matter."

Rep. Henry P. Smith III, RN, Y., doesn't share his colleagues' enthusiasm. "If a terrible tragedy should happen with this wooden ship the blame would be on Congress," he warns.

William Muster, president of Green Line Steamers, Inc., which owns the steamer, has testified that no passenger has been killed in the company's 83-year-old history. He says all the Queen's storerooms have been fireproofed, an automatic fire system installed and bulkheads and overheads sprayed with fire retarding solutions.

The House bill, approved Tuesday by a voice vote, now goes to the Senate.

Steel Paddlewheeler Near Completion

JEFFERSONVILLE, Ind. (AP) — The Delta Queen II is scheduled for completion in the spring of 1975 and by that time it should have a name.

The steamboat, now under construction at shipyards of Jeffboat Inc., here, is actually referred to as Hull No. 5999, and the ship is referred to the Delta Queen because of the fame of the current Delta Queen.

Storms Hit Wide Areas Of Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thunderstorms erupted in widely scattered areas today as most of the nation basked in pleasant summer weather.

The heaviest concentration of storms occurred from western Texas northward across Nebraska to the northern Mississippi Valley and northern Plains. Nearly 1.4 inches of rain soaked Lubbock, Tex., around midnight.

Other storms broke out over the Great Basin, the Southeast and parts of the central and southern Rockies.

Fog and low clouds hung over the Pacific Coast from southern California to Oregon before dawn, and fog settled in scattered areas of the lower Mississippi Valley and Appalachians.

A tornado was sighted Tuesday evening in central Florida, south of Winter Haven. Another tornado struck near Bertrand, Neb., where hail and high winds caused property damage. No personal injuries were reported.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 48 at Watertown, N.Y., to 92 at Needles, Calif.

Celina Man Killed

COLDWATER, Ohio (AP) — Simon Rodriguez, 53, of Celina, was killed Tuesday when two trucks collided on Ohio 118 near here.

struction at shipyards of Jeffboat Inc., here, is actually referred to as Hull No. 5999, and the ship is referred to the Delta Queen because of the fame of the current Delta Queen.

"It seems impersonal to call it that," said John McKay, executive vice president of Jeffboat Inc. "We would like to see a name for it, maybe somewhere in the mid spring of 1975 when she's due to go into service. Delta Queen II is just the name we gave it."

"The point is that when you mention Delta Queen, everybody knows what you're talking about. They might have some kind of contest for the public to choose a name for it."

McKay said the steamboat is now in the engineering and designing stage. Sometime in August, "we plan to lay the keel," he added.

The new, $15 million steamboat will include a large promenade, swimming pool on the top deck, air conditioning, a motion picture theater and two passenger elevators.

With a length of 387 feet, the new ship will be about 100 feet longer than the current Queen and will follow the route the other Queen navigates, along the Ohio and Mississippi rivers.

McKay said that 400 to 500 persons can be accommodated on the new ship which, he said, will be a true steamboat with a steam engine and a real paddle wheel. The new vessel will probably have a band for overnight passengers.

One of the reasons the current Delta Queen is so popular, McKay feels, is her route through the heartland of America.

"There's so much to be seen in our country," McKay said, "the leisure time business is getting bigger and bigger and she (the Delta Queen) goes right through the heart of America. There's just so much heritage."

McKay said he hopes good weather prevails while work progresses on the new steamboat.

"We don't have a building that would be that high to take care of all the equipment, with cranes that would have to lift tremendous pieces of steel."

The new steamboat will meet the requirements of the federal Safety at Sea Law, which stipulates all steel construction for passenger vessels that carry 50 persons in overnight service. The current Queen does not meet those standards because part of her wooden superstructure.

Three acts of Congress, though, have kept the Queen exempt from the law since its adoption in 1966.

William Muster, president of Greene Line Steamers of Cincinnati, owners of the current Delta Queen, said the new vessel will not be a replacement for the Delta Queen, but is the first of a new fleet to expand and develop recreation travel in America's rivers.

Cardinals Squeak Past Giants, 2-1; 5th Straight Win

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer
"We're not getting too worked up...yet."

That's typical Red Schoendienst. He wasn't panicking a couple of months ago when his St. Louis Cardinals crashed headlong into the basement right at the start of the season and seemingly locked the door.

"I'm not getting excited about it—not losing any sleep," Schoendienst said after St. Louis reeled off its fifth straight victory Tuesday night, a 2-1 squeaker over the San Francisco Giants, to trim the lead of Chicago's once runaway Cubs to a scant one-half game in the National League East.

In the rest of the National League, the San Diego Padres humbled the Cubs 1-0, the New York Mets stunned the Atlanta Braves 8-7, the Los Angeles Dodgers belted the Pittsburgh Pirates 8-4, the Montreal Expos whipped the Houston Astros 7-2 and the Philadelphia Phillies nosed out the Cincinnati Reds 2-1.

Padres 1, Cubs 0

Steve Arlin, San Diego's pitching dentist, twirled a fivehitter and scored the game's only run in outdueling Chicago's Milt Pappas. Arlin walked to open the fifth inning, Johnny Grubb also walked, Dave Roberts singled to load the bases and Nate Colbert hit a sacrifice fly.

Mets 8, Braves 7

Ralph Garr, Marty Perez and Hank Aaron slugged home runs and, with just three outs to go, the Braves, leading New York 7-1, appeared easily en route to their fifth straight victory. Then the roof caved in.

Rusty Staub and John Milner hit two-run homers. And a few minutes later Jim Beauchamp hit a run-scoring single. Suddenly the Mets were down by one run, two men were on and Willie Mays was pinch-hitting.

Bang! He punched a single to right-center field, and Beauchamp came in with the run that beat the Braves 8-7.

Dodgers 8, Pirates 4

The Pirates did most of the giving until the ninth inning when they chased pitcher Andy Messersmith with three runs on four hits, including a two-run homer by Al Oliver. Until then, Messersmith had Pittsburgh pretty well tied up in knots with a two-hitter.

Expos 7, Astros 2

Montreal, trailing 2-1 in the seventh inning, erupted for five runs to down Houston 7-2. Ron Fairly tied the score with a single, Boots Day put the Expos on top with a two-run single off Don Wilson, then Bob Stinson and Pepe Frias completed the rally with run-scoring hits.

Lonborg, Phillies Stop Reds

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Two men given up for dead by the American League brought the Philadelphia Phillies back to life Tuesday night.

Righthanded pitcher Jim Lonborg, a Cy Young Award winner with the Boston Red Sox in 1967, stranded 13 Cincinnati Reds as he went the route for his eighth victory against seven defeats.

But it never would have been possible without the hitting of Del Unser.

Unser, considered a potential superstar by the former Washington Senators before being traded to Cleveland and then Philadelphia, drove in the tying run and later set up the winning run with a double.

"That's the best stuff Lonborg has had all year," said Philadelphia Manager Danny Ozark.

Lonborg agreed, saying he made perfect pitches when he was in trouble. And he was in trouble a lot.

Four times—in the third, seventh, eighth and ninth innings—Cincinnati put a runner on third base. None crossed the plate. The Reds' only run came on Cesar Geronimo's second home run of the season in the fourth inning.

Lonborg's worst jam came in the seventh, when Larry Stahl, pinch-hitting for loser Jack Billingham, 13-7, hit a leadoff triple.

Lonborg then had to face Pete Rose, Joe Morgan and Dan Driessen.

"You've got a job to do, now do it," he said he told himself. And he did, as he got Rose to ground out, Morgan to strike out and Driessen to ground out to first.

"When you strike out Morgan, you've really accomplished something," Ozark said. "He doesn't swing at bad pitches, and he seldom strikes out."

Unser, hitting .330 after never having hit higher than .289 in the big leagues, came to the plate in the sixth with Greg Luzinski at second and Tommy Hutton at first.

Reaching for an outside pitch, he slapped a soft line drive into the left field corner for a double, tying the game and sending Hutton to third.

An intentional walk to catcher Bob Boone loaded the bases. Larry Bowa then delivered the winning run when he forced Boone at second, but outran the double play relay at first.

Last year's National League Cy

Young Award winner, Steve Carlton, 9-9, pitches for the Phillies tonight against Cincinnati's Tom Hall, 5-4.

The Reds will probably become the second team this season to pass the million mark in home attendance, going into the game with 996,383 paid admissions. The Dodgers have already passed the million mark.

AL Nips Elks In Slugfest

The American Legion squeezed by the Elks', 17-16, in Circleville Little League Majors Tuesday.

Going into the last inning the American Legion was in the lead, 11-4, and scored six additional runs for a total of 17. Elks' scored 12 times in the bottom of the sixth but fell one short of a tie.

Hits for American Legion were supplied by Brett Sherman with two home runs and three singles, George Johnson hit a grand slam homerun and two singles, Mike Linton had a double, Bruce Davis had a double and a single, Don Hill had a double and a single, Kevin Woltz had a double and a single, Ricky Barker a double and Larry Brown with a single.

Elesa's hits were supplied by John Harr with a home run and a double, Tim Herron with a home run and three singles, Scott Sanders with a double and three singles, Craig Gifford with a single, Richard Fox with a pair of singles, Mark Agin with three singles, Frank Tate with a pair of singles, Brad Allen with a pair of singles and Jim Teets with a single.

George Johnson was the winning pitcher with 10 strike outs, two walks and allowing 22 hits. John Harr was the loser, fanning eight, walking two and giving up 21 hits.

Ladies Hold Golf Day At Upper Lansdowne

Ruth Peters captured low gross honors and Eloise Walker won low net in ladies' day activities at the Upper Lansdowne Golf Links Tuesday.

Mona Welch and Sally Anderson tied for low putts and Nancy Scott had the longest drive on the ninth hole.

Harry Hoffer will conduct a golf clinic 9 a.m. Tuesday, prior to ladies' regular golf play.

Williams Chooses A's Trio To Pitch; Ryan Not Picked

BOSTON (AP) — Manager Dick Williams of the Oakland Athletics picked three members of his own staff and bypassed double no-hit artist Nolan Ryan while naming two relief specialists today among eight pitchers for the 1973 American League All-Star team.

Williams also said that Wilbur Wood, the league's winningest pitcher with 18 victories, was invited but declined because his son faces minor surgery.

Williams' choices, announced by League President Joe Cronin, included Jim Hunter, Ken Holtzman and Rollie Fingers of the A's, Bill Lee of the Boston Red Sox, Sparky Lyle of the New York Yankees, Bert Blyleven of the Minnesota Twins, Jim Colborn of the Milwaukee Brewers and Bill Singer of the California Angels.

Ryan was passed up despite becoming only the fifth pitcher in major league history to hurl two no-hitters in one season, against Kansas City on May 15 and Detroit July 15. He also leads the major league in strikeouts with 220. But his record is only 11-11.

Williams tabbed Lyle, a lefthander, and Fingers, a righthander, for bullpen duty in the annual classic against the National League next Tuesday night at Kansas City.

Lyle has 25 saves and three victories for the Yanks. Fingers, who worked in six of the seven World Series games for the A's against Cincinnati last year, has 10 saves and a 1.27 earned run average.

The National League pitchers, as chosen by Manager Sparky Anderson of the Cincinnati Reds, will be announced Thursday.

IOOF, Oilers, Savings Take LL Minor Contests

IOOF kept their winning streak alive as they downed Rotary, 24-8, Circleville Oil defeated Second National, 6-4, and Savings Bank topped First National Bank, 18-8, in Circleville Minor League play Tuesday.

IOOF stretched their record to 10-0 to almost insure a League title. Hits for IOOF in were by Brad Fisher with a home run, a double and two singles, Pat Cueller had a triple and two singles, Dave Frericks with a double, Jim Snyder with a pair of doubles and a single, Rod Bumgarner had a double and two singles, Bruce Fraser had a double and a single, Mickey Davis had three singles and Rod Leist had a single.

Hits for Rotary were by Tim Mogan with a triple and a single, Mike Alkire with a triple, Rocky Ford came up with a triple while Todd Huffer had a single and Steve Moore had two singles.

Rod Bumgarner was the winning pitcher, fanning eight, walking five, and allowing seven hits. Todd Huffer was the loser, striking out one, issuing seven walks and giving up 21 hits.

Circleville Oil ended up on the long end of the count over Second National. The hits for Circleville Oil were by Dan Martin and Brian Davis both with one single apiece.

Hits for Second National were by Mark Gerhardt with a triple Randy Rush with a single, Scott Chelikowsky with a single and Dale Curry with a single.

Brian Davis was the winning pitcher, walking 17, striking out 10 and allowing four hits. The pitching team of Jeff Pauley and Mike Lutz walked six, fanned nine and allowed two hits.

Heat Stroke Dangerous, Hayes Says

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — College, high school and Little League football coaches were warned Tuesday that heat stroke can be their toughest opponent if proper precautions aren't taken.

It can become a killer within minutes, Ohio State football coach Woody Hayes and Dr. Robert J. Murphy, the team physician, told the coaches.

Hayes and Murphy issued five recommendations for keeping youthful athletes cool and for determining when it is too humid to practice:

—Start conditioning about 30 minutes a day and gradually increase to a two-hour practice session by mid-August. The two vigorously condemned the use of sweat suits, especially rubber ones.

—Know the exact temperature and humidity. Murphy suggested buying a $15 sling psychrometer which measures wet and dry-bulb temperature. Practice should be canceled in event of a 78-degree wet-bulb reading, he emphasized.

—Identify susceptible players. Almost all football deaths from heat stroke have been interior linemen with large, heatgenerating masses of muscle, Murphy said. He said a 200-pound athlete who loses six pounds in a workout, or 3 per cent of his weight, should be watched especially carefully.

—Keep plenty of fluids on the field, ice water and a 1-per cent salt solution. Insist youths drink frequently. Sweat is almost all water, Murphy warned.

—Treat heat stroke like the killer it is. When in doubt about symptoms, cool the body with wet clothes, fanning, water or ice. Minutes are precious, Murphy said.

General Electric edged Elsea's, 5-4, in Circleville Babe Ruth action Tuesday.

Hitting for GE was Mark Hoffman with two doubles, Bill Massie with a single, Matt McGown with a single, Luke Lawhorn with a single, Herbie Lutz with a single, Bob Fuller with a single and Mark Scherer with a single.

Doug McGlone had a single, Doug Dollison had a single, and Tim Millstead had a single for Elsea's.

Lutz was the winning pitcher, striking out seven, walking eight and allowing three hits. McGlone was the loser, fanning eight, walking three and giving up eight hits.

Chip Myers Misses Bengals Practice

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — Cincinnati Bengals' All-Pro wide receiver Chip Myers did not practice Tuesday.

He was trying to recover from a sore throat and 101-degree temperature, but his mind remained very much on football.

Myers said he would have liked to have made practice because he is a firm believer in Coach Paul Brown's method of starting the season with fundamentals.

Whinney U Victorious At Latonia Raceway

FLORENCE, Ky. (AP) — Whinney U finished fast to win by three and three-quarter lengths in Tuesday night's $1,500 feature at the Latonia Trots.

He returned $9.80, $4.40 and $7.80. Second-place finisher Hallies Folly paid $8.00 and $4.40 while third-place finisher Silver Cherish returned $12.60.

Electronic Systems Go Into Schools

NEW YORK (AP) — Two safety systems new in New York schools have been installed by Norcon Electronics here.

In one — at South Shore High School, Brooklyn, and Theodore Roosevelt High School, Bronx — a teacher wears a small pen-size ultrasonic device in a pocket. If he is attacked or senses danger, he presses "the pen," which sends a silent signal to a receiver in a central area in the school.

The other system is a series of nine TV monitors in a central area of the school, watching corridors against intruders. Meyer Levin High School and Winthrop High School, Brooklyn, have that.

Westfall Board Asks Voters For Funds To Build School

Funds for a new Middle School in the Westfall School District will be sought from voters in November.

Westfall's Board of Education passed a resolution Monday evening stating the need for the $1,600,000 bond issue and employed the law firm of Squire, Sanders and Dempsey, of Cleveland, as special council in preparing and supervising essential proceedings connected with the building project.

Board's plans call for the building to be constructed on land now owned by the board adjoining the site of the high school.

Six employees resigned their teaching duties to assume positions in other areas. Area native Tom Hamman was among those leaving. He has accepted a job as high school social studies teacher with the Perry School District, Stark County, where he will also assume some coaching duties.

Raymond Teuton, principal at Monroe, has been hired as elementary supervisor in Tuscarawas County. Two female employees quit to travel to other states where their husbands are now employed. Janet Garner, Darby, is moving to Houston, Texas, with her family and Janet Moyer, industrial arts, is moving to Idaho with her teacher husband.

Cinda Justice, elementary teacher at Monroe, has taken a leave from her education career to assume expanded family responsibilities.

Larry Bolman, who taught English and Latin at the high school, has taken a teaching post in Venezuela.

Bids for service were accepted from: Pennington Brothers, bakery products; Blue Ribbon Dairy, dairy products; Circleville Oil Co., tires and tubes.

Only one oil company returned a bid for gasoline and fuel oil. The board agreed to a contract with Standard Oil Co., who held the Westfall contract last year, to provide fuel to the district at a beginning price of about five cents a gallon over the 1972-73 contract. The district has been limited to amount of fuel available, which is not to exceed the total amount of gas and oil used last school term.

An agreement was signed with the George W. Van Camp Co. of Circleville for paving of portions of the high school parking lot.

Resignations were offered by Betty Bilek, bus driver, Anna Adams and Freda Stires, cooks, and accepted by the school board.

New employment contracts were awarded to:

Miss Jane Warner, graduate of Ohio State, to teach high school home economics.

Mrs. Carolyn Tadlock, graduate of Wilmington College with one year experience, high school English, annual adviser and class play adviser.

Thomas Cox, graduate of California State College, high school special education.

Miss Kathleen Zimmerman, graduate of Ohio State, elementary.

Miss Cindy Cottrill, graduate of Ohio University, elementary.

Norval Shepard, Mrs. Karen Faber and Mrs. Joanne Johnson were hired as school bus drivers.

Westfall voted to be a part of the Fairfield and Pickaway County plan for speech and hearing supervisor services for the coming school year.

To meet regular bills, the board authorized the clerk to request an advance draw on local taxes. Members also decided to have school insurance with the same company which provided it last year, The Guarantee Trust Life Insurance Co., of Chicago, Ill.

Bids for the sale of old bus No. 1 were rejected. The board will ask for sealed bids a second time in the near future.

John Glanton, head football coach, was appointed head track coach to fill the vacancy left by Hamman. Rick Sims was appointed to an assistant coaching position in football.

Board members Mrs. Jeanne Lett, James Dean, Cooke Metzger, Bruce Stevenson, and Dave Long voted to meet in continued session next Monday.

No Response Yet On Emission Plea

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — Environmental Protection Agency officials say they are still unable to respond to a request by Gov. Arch A. Moore Jr. that sulfur oxide emission compliance schedules be extended one year.

William J. Riley, deputy director for the EPA, said the request is currently under consideration, but added that he was not in a position to comment on it.

Moore last month asked the EPA to grant the one-year extension of 1975 deadlines for compliance with sulfur oxide emission regulations for seven West Virginia plants.

Food Stamp Disputes Mark Action On House Farm Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House was set to settle Food Stamp disputes today after dramatically cutting cotton out of the farm bill and quietly voting to give Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz vast new power over food prices.

Key tests were expected on amendments that would ban Food Stamps for strikers and would eliminate proposed new restrictions on eligibility.

A new coalition sought to hold on long enough to push the final package bill to victory during a fifth day of action on the House floor.

The prime maneuver came Monday as the House voted 208 to 190 to strip cotton programs from its version of the legislation.

This step was intended to produce a bill that would give the House a better bargaining position at a later conference with the Senate. The Senate-passed version of the farm and food program bill includes cotton.

Then, by voice vote without debate among a small number of congressmen on the floor, the House approved a food price amendment by Rep. Harold V. Froehlich, R-Wis., covering both the 60-day price freeze and any new economic controls in the President's upcoming Phase 4.

This amendment would require Nixon to adjust the maximum price that may be charged for any farm products when Butz determines that the current price freeze or future price controls will produce a supply shortage and there is no other way to boost supply.

It defines these products as meat, poultry, vegetables, fruit and all other farm commodities. Products are covered "at any point in the distribution chain." Froehlich said the amendment is necessary because consumers soon will find it difficult to buy many products since production costs have gone up faster than the cost of living.

Skies over Ohio will remain generally cloudless today as temperatures climb into the 80s, but cloudiness is expected to increase gradually tonight and Thursday, reflecting approach of a weak cold front from the Upper Great Lakes.

Temperatures will show a slow warming trend tonight and Thursday, the National Weather Service reported.

The service called the morning weather map as "colorless" as the general weather. There is a ridge of high pressure from the St. Lawrence Valley through the lower Great Lakes to the Upper Ohio Valley, and the ridge is moving but slowly eastward.

At dawn temperatures were generally in the lower 60s and upper 50s. Toledo, however, dropped to 50 degrees while Zanesville had a 55 reading.

Ohio Extended Outlook (Friday through Sunday)
Seasonably pleasant temperatures Friday through Sunday with showers likely Friday. Highs in the upper 70s and 80s. Lows from the mid 50s to the low 60s.

Corn, Soybeans Make Rapid Gains

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department says corn and soybean crops are making rapid gains in much of the country despite delays in plantings last spring.

A report Tuesday on weather conditions said that hot, humid weather last week caused corn plants to grow a foot in main Corn Belt areas.

"The crop appears to be catching up with last year's growth in some states but there is a lot more variation than last year between fields and between states," the report said.

Dayton Youth Killed By Lightning Bolt

ATIKOKAN, Ont. (AP) — Gary Kim Garlitz, 18, of Dayton, Ohio, was killed by lightning Tuesday as he slept in a tent at a local park.

Garlitz and a group of young people were camping in the park in northwest Ontario when the storm hit.

It took Walt Disney three years to make "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs."

Soybeans were reported to have made "good progress" last week, although farmers were still planting fields in some areas.

"Development of Ohio and Indiana soybeans is matching last year's," the report said. "Illinois soybeans are in fair to mostly good condition with 15 per cent blooming compared to 43 per cent last year."

The Iowa soybean crop was reported 24 per cent in the bloom stage, compared with 32 per cent last year.

The cotton crop benefited from rains from the Texas plains to the Atlantic coast last week, the report said.

"The crop made good growth and is in fair to good condition with about 70 per cent of the cotton squaring in the delta," it added.

Hot, dry weather last week in the Great Plains helped push the 1973 wheat harvest to near completion in Kansas, 43 per cent in Colorado and 60 per cent in Nebraska, the report continued.

"High seasonal temperatures and dry weather forced rapid maturing of small grain crops from Nebraska northward," the report said.

The weather report was for the week ended July 15. Although the weekly commentary does not give yield estimates, it provides USDA officials with an idea of how the 1973 crops are coming along.

A major question presently is whether corn and soybean yields will match the statistical projections that the department made in its production report last week.

In that report, the Crop Reporting Board said a record corn crop of nearly 5.9 billion bushels is possible with good weather and if yields are about on trend with recent years.

The board also projected a record 1973 soybean crop of nearly 1.6 billion bushels.

The first official USDA production estimate will not be released until Aug. 9. It is based on field surveys made the first of the month.

New Britten Opera Coming To The Met

NEW YORK (AP) — The Metropolitan Opera will present the American premiere of Benjamin Britten's "Death in Venice" on Oct. 18, 1974.

This was announced even before the world premiere in June, by the English Opera Group at the Aldeburgh Festival.

The role of the novelist was created by Peter Pears and the other principal role by John Shirley Quirk. They will repeat their parts here, making their Met debuts. Stewart Bedford conducted the original production.

The Gramma Fisher Foundation of Marshalltown, Iowa, is responsible for this first collaboration of the English Opera Group, the Royal Opera House, where the work will be heard during the upcoming season, and the Met.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those highly sensitive young people who requires special handling and attention during early youth and much care given to diet so your youngster can mature into a most stable and productive member of society; otherwise there could be one of those unfortunates emerging here who will never accomplish much. Slant the education along such lines as music, art, or acting, where the sensitivity will find excellent expression.

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Are you a mystery show clue spotter? I am.

With the abundance of detective shows the confirmed cluespotter has ample opportunity to practice this imperfect art. Imperfect because the best writers plant clues subtly and mix them with enough false leads to keep you guessing.

Of course, some series show the viewer everything and expect you to sit back and watch while the hero plods inexorably toward a solution.

But the kind I like best keep you in the dark — if not about the culprit at least about how the detective will find him out. Did the camera make an unnecessary sweep of the room, stopping on some innocuous object? Is there a character whose presence seems extraneous to the plot and who says rather baffling things?

Richard Levinson and William Link, the creators of NBC's "Columbo," are the Johnny Appleseeds of the clue-dropping fraternity.

In "Columbo," you always know who the killer is, but the opportunity is there to spot the clues that the raincoat-clad detective will piece together for a solution.

In one show, filmed in London, it was a case of mixed-up umbrellas and some missing beads from a necklace. This past Sunday Columbo looked at photographs of a movie star's long dead husband and commented on a Shriners' ring and the husband's height. We caught a quick view of a garden fountain and the garden fountain.

there were remarks about the husband's disappearance on a fishing trip.

So Columbo was able to determine that a current killing was to cover up the 10-year-old murder of the husband. He was actually buried under

The thing about Columbo is that he notices everything and comments on everything. He babbles about shoes, rings, cigars and whatnot. The fun is separating the trivial from the important.

Producer Roy Huggins, who writes under the name of John Thomas James, is another prolific planter.

ON NBC's "Cool Million," jet-set hero Jefferson Keyes collects his customary fee of a million dollars from the president of an African country for rescuing his daughter. Unfortunately, the check bounces and Keyes flies back in his private jet for his money.

The president unceremoniously tosses Keyes and his pilot out of the country. But in that scene two important clues are revealed. There is a seemingly purposeless shot of the presidential diamond displayed in a glass case. And deported with Keyes is a man who delivered a jet plane to the president and is not paid for it.

When Keyes vows to collect his million dollars one way or another, you think back to the diamond. Sure enough, he slips back into the country with his pilot and swipes it. And when he needs a quick exit you remember the presidential jet sitting there just waiting to be flown to safety.
